Reason For Selection	This machine was a forerunner to the enticing way products are displayed in vending machines, which led to a dramatic surge in the number and variety of products manufactured for sale in coin-operated vending machines. Once a refrigeration unit was installed in a vending machine, this became an indispensable component in all coin-operated machines dispensing beverages. Consumers grew accustomed buying drinks in paper cups from machines. Once people got used to consuming drinks anywhere on the spot, this contributed enormously to the beverage vending machine industry and also had an enormous impact on the eating and drinking habits of the general public.
